

Molly Dennis, MSW

Molly has an undergraduate degree in psychology from Wagner College and attended Temple University for her graduate studies in social work. Molly worked in behavioral health for years before starting her current position at Health Partners Plans doing medical case management. She grew up in the Philadelphia suburbs and now resides in Rittenhouse with her dog Lila. Molly was diagnosed with lupus in 2012. She finds great joy in using her social work training to help others cope with lupus.